REV. DR. KARA KILPATRICK

This Sunday we continue our voyage of voices with Rev. Dr. Kara Kilpatrick. We are grateful for Kara's willingness to bring our message this morning as we walk through Eastertide together.

Kara was born and raised in Birmingham, AL. She received her M.Div. from Beeson Divinity School at Samford University and her Th.M. from Princeton Theological Seminary. She was ordained in the Presbytery of Sheppards and Lapsley when she became a chaplain through the Methodist LeBonheur Healthcare system in Memphis, TN. She worked in chaplaincy for 7 years before entering medical school at East Tennessee State University from which she graduated with her M.D. in 2016. She moved to Kentucky to train in Psychiatry at the University of Kentucky and is currently a Fellow in Child and Adolescent Psychiatry. Kara is married to Jeno Smith.
